

The initial degree of application of these requirements may vary State to State depending on the use of radioactive sources and/or nuclear installations (other than NPPs) before considering the nuclear power option.